

Today morning I have started working on my project where priya given to me. Today I learned new things in html and css like dividing the div class into two equal sections where it splits into two equal portions. say for an example width:50% in section1 and width:50% in section2. And how to use the flex direction row and column. With the help of the previous week flex project now I have implemented it in this project.

Then I included the image in the flex box using the <image tag: attributes>here the attributes is the width and height of the image in the flex box. After I placed the image I aligned it in the center using justify-content:center;

Today priya took work from home. So I cleared my doubts with deepthi. Then I tried usage of icons in the input field. I tried to implement it but it doesn't work.so I started learning it again.

Then I created a div classes for each content in the project using html and done some styles using css.

After the lunch we went to Koushik sir class. He asked for the weekly report where he told us to complete. Then he told me delete the coding part in that report. I rewrite the report with some points. Koushik sir told there is no class for today and we went with the mentors.

Then again I started working on my project with the smaller portions I wanted to correct. By 6'0 clock I had a meeting with priya in google meet. I have showed my project which I have done for today. She told me some corrections by comparing the UI design she gave to me. Then she asked some questions regarding the code I have used in the project. After the meeting she told me to complete the project by tomorrow morning.
