Today I have two task in my project to complete. As Koushik sir told first I split up the problems into small small chunks and started trying to solve it one by one. Yesterday what I have done in the order summary div are needs to be changed because of the improper alignments in the div.

First I take notes on what are the things should be in the div then I started working by implementing on my project.

So I have created a common div on order summary. On that div I have created two div classes and named as details1.

Created Four div class and named as details2.likewise I have created two more details.

After creating all these div the last div in not aligned properly and I tried many ways to correct it but it doesn't work.so I have to clear the whole div and started working on it again.

So I have divided the div into two sections and named as details1 and details2.

In the details section I have placed order summary by placing in <h3> tag.

Then selected plan should be bold and I coded as in the  tag as selected plan.similarly I have created div classes.

By using  tag I implemented the link in the name of terms of service.

Terms of service

Today I have completed the one task on my project. Remaining placing the icon on the input field needs to be completed.
